OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8, 1866.

The President is about at the end of his tether—that is the general belief at this time of nearly all the prominent politicians—even those who see Mr. Johnson daily but haven't the courage to tell him what they think.

The great elections of to-morrow in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, etc., will tell an important story. I will not anticipate, however. It seems to be settled that the radicals will have control of the 40th Congress. It cannot well be otherwise. To give the coalition (of Copperheads and rebels) control of the next Congress, the Republicans must lose at least 15 Congressional Districts, and that is impossible.

The radicals are already planning for the second session of the present Congress. The President has violated an important provision of the Constitution—that relating to the appointment of men to civil offices. If there is anything clear in the Constitution it is this: That the Senate has the right to reject any nominee of the President's. But Mr. Johnson has appointed men to office after their rejection by the Senate. Yet he is the man who has been going over the country leaving the Constitution "to their care"—that is to the people. Congress cannot be blamed if it attempts to pass a law defining the President's powers in this respect. It can be passed over his head, and probably will be. If he should fail to obey the law—denying to Congress jurisdiction over the subject—there is one way in which the evil can be corrected which nobody can question. I mean the power of Congress; of course the President and his friends will deny the propriety of such action. Congress can do as it has done with the impertinent Minister to Spain—James E. Harvey—it can provide that men who are kept in office after they have been rejected by the Senate shall not be paid! This will touch the heart of of the difficulty, especially after the office holders perceive that a majority of the 40th Congress are Radicals, and will not repeal the law. No more will care to abandon principle and friends for an office that promises no pay during the next three years.

There is, no doubt, I think, that the Radicals will have a two-thirds majority in both Houses the coming winter. Tennessee gives the President one supporter in the Senate, but the Radicals gain a man from Kansas in place of Lane, and another in New Jersey. The House is strongly Radical—full strong enough to pass a bill over a Presidential veto. So far as I can hear, there is no disposition on the part of Congress to get into an ugly quarrel with the President, if he will behave himself. But if the elections go against his policy, and in full view of that fact he obstinately and perversely persists in trying to bully Congress and the country, then Congress will defend itself, and in doing so, will defend the country. No one can tell exactly what will happen, but it will be an exciting session. Of that you may be sure.

It is astonishing that the President should have committed such an atrocious blunder as he has in making appointments to offices. He has been turning out good Republicans and putting the worst kind of copperheads in their places. In one office out West he has just put a copperhead soldier. This is the worst outrage in this line. Now I can understand how a bad man may give loose reins to his passions, but not when certain ruin follows their indulgence. The President if he possesses any sagacity must see that he is taking the course which must secure his defeat before the people. How an old democratic politician could commit such a blunder I cannot see, yet this is what he has been doing for weeks and weeks. In some places the President is very cosy with Republican office-holders—in this city for instance. He does not yet remove the postmaster or collector, and there are no signs of their removal.

The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier publishes a dirty mass of scandal respecting certain high people in this city. For the sake of saying a few words I quote the paragraph:

"This is a wicked world, I verily believe, and I am confirmed in that sage opinion by a scandalous affair, which I may refer to without any violation of good taste, since the matter is one of record.

"Your readers will remember that a year or two ago there was a wedding here in high life (so called.) A young but prominent citizen of a Northern State, who counted his fortune by millions, was the happy bridegroom, and the daughter of a then cabinet minister was the bride. Rare jewels, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, were lavished on the fair lady, and such a wedding was never in the land since Commodore Bartlett's daughter married the Cuban negro Oviedo. Well; there have been many rumors about the couple just named, and the air has been thick with scandalous rumors. It was well known that the husband was a festive cuss, and that his thousands were spent in riotous living—wine, cards and other etceteras. But only latterly did the wife seem to know or at least to notice the delinquency of her lord, when it was presented to her in such a shape that there could be no doubt of his infidelity; or, to be plainer, the services of a physician were required to heal the body as well as a lawyer to heal her wounded sensibilities. And so she has brought action for divorce, and will of course get swinging damages; both of which she is entitled to, albeit the lady herself is very gay. The case will create a sensation when the names are given to the public."

Now concealment is idle. The above refers to Senator Sprague, of Rhode Island, and his wife—the daughter of Chief Justice Chase. I confess that (although I am aware of the rumors) I cannot believe the story. Mrs. Sprague has been absent all summer in Europe, travelling at the expense of her husband, and it is hardly probable that she would take steps for a divorce at such a time. This fact is suspicious and throws discredit upon the whole story. I confess that I incline to believe it false from beginning to end.

The Boston Traveller has some novel ideas respecting the French and Mexican embroglio. It says:

"Gen. Dix's appointment to the post of Minister to France is held in some quarters to mean that President Johnson intends to notify Emperor Napoleon that the time has come to put an end to his connection with Mexican matters, which connection he had agreed to sever long since, while he appears engaged in increasing its strength. Secretary Seward is charged with encouraging the Emperor to pursue the course he is engaged in, and there is nothing improbable in the charge, the Secretary of State being one of those mousing politicians who never can pursue a straight-forward course. But the President, with all his faults, is more inclined to downright action, and it is not unlikely that he has become tired of the French system, and intends to cut the Gordian knot which the foreign Emperor and the American Secretary have tied so tightly. A firm course would, it is fairly inferrible, put an end at once to the contest in Mexico, and leave the Mexicans to decide their own affairs according to their own sense of right. As their action would probably make a greater muddle than ever of their politics, the time for the acquisition of Mexico by this country would be much hastened by the prompt removal of Maximilian. That Mexico will become one of our possessions at no distant date is certain. That country will follow the course that is traceable by the history of what was known as Louisiana, of Florida, of Texas, of California and other portions of old Mexico, and of Indian territory in all parts of North America; and the sooner this is recognized, and acted on, the better shall we discharge our duty toward our neighbors. Of self-government the Mexicans seem to grow more and more incapable. Even now, Juarez and Ortega are quarrelling over their country's carcase; and as soon as Maximilian shall have returned to Europe there will be a grand civil war among the Mexicans."

I suspect that what is said respecting the future fate of Mexico is true. Only this, that the North and West will be careful not to do anything which may add to the political power of the South. That is a subject already regarded in high political circles. It is talked of by leading Southern politicians.

The New York Times has had several articles of late in the same view, and in its issue of to-day it openly advocates military intervention on the part of the Government the moment that the French troops are withdrawn. This is a paragraph from the article:

"The time has now come to say that the United States has a duty to perform toward the Republic of Mexico. If we could not tolerate the foreign domination that the French Emperor attempted to impose upon her, neither can we in honor permit the everlasting anarchy maintained by a desperate crew of usurping chiefs. We have the most immediate interest in the fortunes of Mexico. We have given the Republic our warmest sympathy in all its difficulties, and the Republicans have looked to us anxiously and earnestly for assistance against the invader. To the constitutional authority of Juarez we have given a moral support that has been of the highest importance in securing the withdrawal of the French army, and it was mainly because nothing beyond moral effort was needed in this case nothing else has been given. Republicanism now again needs our practical support to secure it against further encroachments, external and internal."

This was written in the interest of the Juarez party—of that there can be no doubt. Some people here attach a great deal of importance to the Times' article because of the known intimacy existing between Mr. Raymond (the chief editor of the Times) and Mr. Seward. But there is really nothing in that. Mr. Seward is opposed to intervention in Mexican affairs, and has given a pledge that he will not permit intervention. In the preliminary correspondence of last winter Mr. Seward very clearly intimated to Louis Napoleon that if the French troops were withdrawn, Maximilian should have fair play; that if he could sustain himself, he should be at liberty to do so. But it is clear that Maximilian will not be able to stand alone, and he will soon decamp. The Times is looking in advance even of this event, and has not the slightest confidence in the ability of Juarez to sustain a Government in Mexico, and wants our own Government to step in and support him. The Tribune protests in unqualified terms against any attempt to send troops to Mexico, for that or any other purpose. It need have no fears on the subject so long as Mr. Seward is at the head of the State Department.

There have been a few cases of cholera here within the last ten days, and the friends of Mr. Seward were afraid he might be attacked, as he has been in poor health ever since he returned from Chicago. But he was better yesterday, and is out of danger. ONCE A WEEK.

ROBBERY OF WELLS, FARGO & CO.'S TREASURE STAGE.—The following particulars of the late robbery of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s stage are taken from the Virginia Union of October 31st:

Again we are called upon to chronicle one of those daring highway robberies peculiar to the land of sage-brush. This morning between one and two o'clock, as the Pioneer Stage Company's coaches were ascending the Geiger grade, about four miles from this city, the driver was commanded to halt by five persons, who stepped from their places of concealment with double-barrelled shotguns, at the same time presenting them in such a way that the driver came to a halt without asking any questions. The stage having stopped, the robbers invited the passengers, (fourteen in all) to vacate their seats, as they wanted Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure. The passengers were all removed from the stage and the driver obeyed orders to have the horses unhitched preparatory to blowing open the treasure box, which was in the stage under the front seat. The horses and passengers being removed some distance from the coaches, a quantity of powder was worked into the keyhole of the iron safe, the fuse lighted and the explosion took place, tearing the safe and coach almost to pieces. The robbers immediately took possession of the letters, packages and $5,150 which was in the safe. They then arranged all the passengers in line and "went through them," taking what small change, gold watches, etc. that they had about them on their persons. The robbers then assisted the driver to hitch up the horses and bidding the passengers good-bye, disappeared in the darkness. Every attempt to recognize any of the robbers failed, owing to their faces being blacked and covered with cloth, with small holes cut out for their eyes. The stage arrived in this city about three o'clock this morning, the treasure stage having been so badly blown to pieces that it scarcely hung together. The passengers were brought into town by the second stage, which was not damaged at all. As soon as the stages arrived a posse of citizens immediately started for the scene of the robbery, but found nothing but a few pieces of the stage lying around the spot. No traces of the robbers have been discovered as yet. J. F. Calderwood, one of the passengers, saved $400 by throwing it on top of the stage before the robbers searched him. Judge Baldwin, one of the passengers, had his watch and $60 taken. The other passengers all lost something except one lady, whom the robbers did not molest. It was one of the boldest and most successful stage robberies ever planned and executed on the Pacific coast.

The Gold Hill News says the amount taken from the passengers will amount to several thousand dollars.

THE OTERO MURDERERS EXECUTED.—A New York dispatch of October 12th, says:

Gonzales and Pellicier were executed shortly after 10 o'clock to-day in Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, within a few blocks of the scene of the murder of Senor Otero. They made a full confession of their participation in the deed, and charged Viole with being the planner and chief assassin. Neither manifested any particular emotion on the gallows. Gonzales seemed a little frightened, but Pellicier was calm and composed. Their necks were not broken by the fall, but their death was very quick. There was no struggle on Gonzales' part. Pellicier's contortions were terrible for some minutes.

ENTERPRISE ON THE PLAINS.—Mr. Ben. Holladay, who recently crossed the Plains, gives the following account of his trip: He came by railway through Iowa to within seventeen miles of Omaha, and from there he came along the Union Pacific Railroad, by special train, to Kearny, at a whizzing rate. He says the stage line will have its transfers at Cottonwood by the first of November. By the first of December the railroad builders will have a bridge over the North Platte and the road completed from Omaha to that point. By the first of February the Iowa railroad will be completed to Omaha and there will then be continuous travel by rail from Chicago to the North Platte river.—Independent.

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 12, 1866.

A Bugbear which is not a Bugbear.

One of the most illiberal and contemptible expedients for compassing the rejection of the Constitutional amendment, is the charge put forth by Copperheads that it is a New England scheme for the acquisition of political power. The statement that a few of the Northern States will gain representatives while some of the Southern States, instead of having a disproportionate representation as now, will be reduced to an exact ratio with the others, they magnify into the proportions of a most wicked attempt upon the rights of States. They say the amendment will have the effect to reduce the number of Southern representatives in proportion to Northern, which is true. Such reduction is due to every voter in the North, not because of section, but because each voter in the North or West, or East is entitled to just exactly as much political power as each voter in the South. Unless representation be based upon votes as proposed in the amendment, this equality of power cannot exist, as the figures of population, voters and representation incontestibly show.

But, urges the still contentious and obtuse Copperhead, it is no more just to increase the number of representatives in Congress, from New England than it would be to take Senators from Southern States and give them to New England. Here they forget or ignore both of the facts, that the House represents the people directly, and that the Senate does not. To create prejudice against New England, they ask the question—as though it were a crusher—"why is New England, with a population less than that of New York, allowed twelve Senators while New York has but two?" It is no part of our present purpose to answer that, further than to say that in the philosophy of our form of Government, each State is an individual and, whether great or small, equal to each other State; but we quote the enquiry to say that the argument will apply with greater force if we substitute the States of Delaware, Florida, Arkansas, Maryland, Louisiana and Mississippi, for the six New England States. Those Southern States lack more than a million of being equal to New York in population, counting all their late slave population in. If Copperheads will insist upon having the representation of States in the Senate put upon the basis of voting population, as the condition of accepting that basis for the House, we commend the application of the plan to their pet Southern States above named.

The proposition to leave the representation in the Senate as it is, and to place representation in the House upon the basis of voters, is one of exact equality and justice, two ideas upon which our system of government is based. Each State is an individual, and each voter is an individual, are entitled to be represented upon an exact equality, and neither has any other right in this respect. Without invoking to our aid any of that obtuseness of vision which a Copperhead finds so serviceable, we are unable to see the bugbear in the amendment which so appals the Democracy.

A Melancholy Rebel.

Jacob Thompson, of Buchanan Cabinet fame, has been heard from through a letter published in a Mississippi paper, dated at Dublin, Ireland, August 11. During the war it was his business to organize conspiracies, and he probably knows too much about the assassination plot. He has wandered through all lands, and returned in a melancholy mind. Let him confess and be hanged. He says with all his faults he loves his country—for "there's no such country in the world." says he. In a doleful strain he goes on to say:

> I have visited every kingdom and people which have any position among the nations of the earth, and with the intention—if ever I could find an acceptable place—to settle down and gather my little family around me, and there, in quiet, spend the remnant of my days, but I find no place in which I am willing to leave my family. No, for good or evil, the best country is in the United States; and if there could only be security of person, property and reputation, it would be the most desirable country on earth. At all events those dependent on me, I want them to remain and abide the fate of their country. What shall become of me is of but little consequence; my days of usefulness are past. My sun is fast hastening to its setting, but my will shall be that when life's fitful fever is over, my body shall be buried beneath the soil which has been fattened with the blood of my ancestors in the struggle for its independence.

The Herald publishes this with great ostentation, in the obvious endeavor to make out that this unhappy rebel is a deeply injured man.

"Equality of Man."

Under this head a Copperhead of this city says: "No historical fact is better established than that at that day, (when the Declaration of Independence was made,) the negroes were universally regarded as having no rights which a white man was bound to respect." If that were true, we think a fair offset will be the "historical fact" that this generation has inaugurated the practical application of the principle that justice belongs inherently to all men, and that no man is so low in the scale of humanity as to be destitute of certain civil and natural rights which all men are bound to respect. The old time notions peculiar to the Democracy, that certain nabobs, aristocrats and slaveocrats, were the owners and rulers of the whole people by right of being born with silver spoons in their mouths, brassy impudence in their faces, and negroes in their folds, has become pretty well exploded. This is a better era, when the inalienable rights of all men are better understood and better appreciated; when it is understood in a practical way that neither negroes nor northern mudsills are the Divinely decreed servants of a bloated, sensual and anti-democratic Democracy.

Mark Tapley Come Again.—The Herald's hired man refuses to be discouraged by the overwhelming defeat which his party has just suffered in the States. Mark Tapley was a weak character in comparison with this hired man, and never half as determined to "come out strong" under adverse circumstances. Inquires the hired man, "What has the Democratic party lost?" as though it had not lost anything. It only lost Massachusetts by 75,000. Well, what of that? We lost her before. We have lost New York by nearly 14,000—what of that? We lost the State before by 6,000 and upwards. The Rads have only gained 3,000 in Michigan since 1864—that's nothing; and besides, the Fenians voted there with the Rads; their votes don't amount to anything; we've clearly not lost anything in Michigan. We have not lost anything in Illinois, for though the Fenians voted there, also, with the Rads, we have reduced the Radical majority from 30,000 in 1864 to 40,000 in 1866. Can't you see it? Bravo! we'll soon carry Illinois! In like manner, we have reduced the Radical majority in Wisconsin, from 17,500 in 1864 to over 20,000 this year. At the next election, we shall carry everything before us. The Fenians changed from us to the Rads in Wisconsin—that don't count. We've carried "My Maryland" and Delaware! There's glory for us! Whoop-de-doodle-doo.

The Herald is unhappy because two negroes have been elected to the Massachusetts Legislature. Who will longer deny that the Democratic citadel is in danger? But we are glad that these negroes were not elected to Congress. First, because we think they ought not to sit in the National Legislature, and secondly, because we should be sorry to see them disgraced by being fellow members with that pink of Democracy, John Morrissey.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO NOVEMBER 10.

An Iron-Clad for San Francisco—Special Postal Agent—Failure of a Mining Company.

New York, Nov. 10.—A Washington special dispatch says the Navy Department has under consideration the sending of the iron clad Miantonomah, now in Europe, to San Francisco via Cape Horn.

Ben. C. Truman, formerly correspondent and latterly on special government duty in the Southern States, has been appointed special post office agent for California, and has started westward.

The Downieville gold and silver mining company, whose office was at No. 75 Wall street, was found to have failed yesterday, and a number of Stock Brokers got badly victimized. The market was found to be flooded with their trash. A civil suit was immediately commenced against Riley & Wheeler, and they were lodged in jail.

The California steamer yesterday brought $539,000 in treasure.

Later Election News.

New York, Nov. 9.—Fenton's majority, by latest accounts, is 13,654.

Further returns establish the election of S. F. Witzler, Conservative, in the 9th Missouri District. The Radical Republican majority is about 20,000.

Halsey's, Republican, majority in Newark District is 9,210. Hill's, Republican, majority over Rogers is 455. Hurley, (independent) Democratic candidate of that district, received less than 200 votes.

The Democratic majority in Delaware is 1,516.

The Maryland Legislature stands as follows: Senate, 16 Conservative, 8 Republican; House, 59 Conservative, 21 Republican.

Fenian Trials Indefinitely Postponed.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The Fenians were arraigned at Toronto yesterday and their trial indefinitely postponed. Another Fenian was tried and acquitted. There are only three under the sentence of death—Lynch, McMahan and Slevin. There are now 14,000 British Regulars in Canada being a larger force than has been there since the war of 1812. The residence of the crown prosecutor against the Fenians at Toronto is guarded by regular troops. Toronto police are instructed to arrest all suspicious characters under suspension of the writ of habeas corpus and magistrates are authorized to commit persons so arrested without trials and hold them until the 8th of June, 1867. Yesterday four arrests were made.

Paris Exhibition.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Great Eastern has been chartered to carry excursionists from New York to Brest during the Paris exhibition.

Cyrus W. Field is paying the indebtedness caused by his failure in 1859, with interest in full.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The Chicago scale works and several smaller machine shops adjoining on the west side of Washington street at the corner of Canal, were burned this morning. Loss, $60,000; insurance $40,000. About one hundred mechanics were thrown out of employment.

The cholera deaths in this city during the month of October were 673.

New York, Nov. 9.—Flour is dull at 15@20c lower. Wheat dull; common 2@5c lower.

New York, Nov. 9.—The steamer Henry Chauncey brings Panama dates to the 14th inst. The South American news is not important.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Herald's Panama correspondent says of peace negotiations between Spain and Peru, that the latter rejects all Spanish claims for Church property, and will prosecute war with renewed vigor if Spain wishes. Bolivia had demanded an explanation of Brazil for aiding the Spanish fleet at Rio after its defeat at Callao.

Telegraphic Agents' Circular.

New York, Nov. 9.—To all agents or correspondents: You will take notice that telegrams for the Associated Press must not be addressed to Mr. Colard, but to Jas. W. Simonton, General Agent of Associated Press.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—The eastern line is again in working order, but we have received no report for evening papers.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Constitution sailed for Panama to-day with three hundred and fifty passengers and $865,000 in treasure.

Thomas Newman and Frank Hupperlinger, indicted for setting fire to Newman Brothers store, on Battery street, and Henry Schwartz, indicted for setting fire to a house on Mission street, demurred to their indictments in the county court to-day. Albert Long, who set fire to his house opposite the Willows, pleaded guilty, and will be sentenced a week from next Monday.

The Imperial Silver Mining Company have declared a dividend of $8 per share, and the Hale and Norcross $100 per foot.

The Central Park Homestead Association have declared a dividend of $50 per share on their capital stock.

The Crown Point Gold and Silver Mining Company have also declared a dividend of $50 per foot.

Brevet Major General Robert Allen, Assistant Quartermaster General, has been ordered to report for duty in the Department of the Pacific, to fill the place of Brevet Colonel E. B. Babbitt, Deputy Quartermaster General, who has been transferred to the Department of Columbia as Chief Quartermaster of that Department.

The action brought by Peter Vincent and wife, against Allen Engler and wife, to recover $10,000 damages for slander, has been dismissed.

Judge Sawyer this morning denied the prayer of defendant for alimony in the case of Geo. Felix vs. Richard Benkert, and also denied the plaintiff's prayer for a divorce. The decision was based on a question of law in which the plaintiff announces his intention to appeal to the Supreme Court. In the divorce case of Harriet A. Strickland vs. Benj. Strickland a new trial was granted.

Justice Sawyer to-day denied the motion of Henry Barton, Jr. to compel Surveyor General Houghton to approve the Survey of certain swamp and overflowed lands.

Levrardo Doaman was convicted in the police court today for an assault and battery on his wife, and put under $500 bonds to keep the peace, on account of threats which he made against her life.

Healdsburg, Nov. 10.—Wm Osborne alias "Geyser Bill" was arrested at Geyserville last week for horse stealing, and shot by Deputy Sheriff Boggs in an attempt to escape. Died last night.

Consul Godoy claims thirteen cannon recently brought from French fortifications at Mazatlan as the property of the Mexican Republic, and will treat their sale as void.

The clearance of the steamer Continental, which sailed Thursday for San Blas, Manzanillo and Acapulco, was obtained from the Mexican Imperial Consul.

Judge Pratt this morning rendered his decision in favor of the defendants in the celebrated Moone Beidman case for the possession of over 150 acres of land in the western part of the city, and comprising several of the finest homesteads of citizens. The decision is generally regarded as a complete overthrow of the Moone title, as the case in question was understood to be the strongest of the many brought by Moone and on the issue of which the Moone title should stand or fall.

Financial.

Gold in New York 146¼ on the 8th inst.; sterling 109@109½. Legal tenders are quoted at 70¾ buying and 70¾ selling. The money market is comparatively easy, at 1¼@1½ per cent. at the bank. Under decreased exports the supply is accumulating and greater ease is predicted within a short time.

Stock Market.

With few exceptions the stock market continues to improve. After paying $60,000 in dividends the Savage carried forward a surplus of $22,000. The receipts of bullion from the Hale & Norcross mine for the month of October were $150,000 in round numbers. The bullion receipts of Yellow Jacket for October were $150,000. The production of bullion for October by the Gould & Curry was $114,000; of Crown Point $110,000; of Chollar Potosi $60,000; of Empire Mill $42,000.

The Markets.

Flour—the demand still active at current rates.

Wheat—sales for milling $1 97½; good $2 07½; very choice $2 10.

Potatoes—Bodega 67½c per 100 lbs.

Shipping.

Arrived—Nov. 10th, ship Handy, merchandise, 103 days from New Castle; bark Fremont, 23 days from Seabeck; whale bark Martha, 20 days from Plover Bay, oil; whale bark John Howland, 47 days from Fox Islands, oil; whale brig Manilla, 38 days from Plover Bay, oil; brig Beacon, 18 days from Port Madison.

Sailed—Nov. 9th, ship Washington, New York; British bark Trecare, Liverpool. Nov. 10th, steamer Orizaba, San Pedro; steamer Oriflamme, Portland.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—The passengers who left here by the Golden City on the 18th ult. arrived in New York on the 9th of this month by the Henry Chauncy, very much pleased with their rapid trip.

The steamship Pacific arrived from Portland at 8 o'clock last night.

Yesterday a number of ladies and gentlemen went on a trial trip of the steamer S. M. Whipple, provided with McComb's patent augur wheels, the property of Jos. McCombs. The inventor is of California.

STATE ITEMS.

Last Wednesday, John Lee and a half-breed named La Mar broke jail at Oregon City and escaped.

The Corvallis and Dalles postoffices are to be postal money order offices, the former of the second class.

The Enterprise says the Oregon City postoffice is soon to be made a first class office and a money order office.

Wells, Fargo & Co. are reported as having received at their office at the Dalles, since Oct. 30, $204,000 in treasure.

Company "F," 14th Infantry, arrived at Camp Watson on the 7th inst. There have been no depredations on the Canyon road, nor about Canyon City recently.

The military authorities have enlisted sixty or seventy Indian scouts under Capt. W. C. McKay. They will be immediately armed and equipped and sent into the field for a winter campaign.

It is understood that none of the soldiers, recently arrived at Fort Vancouver, will be sent into the field, before spring, and that then, they will be sent to Fort Boise and the Chico road.

A few days since a small Indian child, while straying about in the vicinity of High street, Oregon City, fell from the bluff and was almost instantly killed by dashing against the rocks in its fall.

The immense improvements of the People's Transportation Company, at this city, are now so nearly completed that the steamers will occupy the "basin," it is thought, next week, this meeting within a few feet, boats from below. So says the Enterprise.

L. F. Carter, formerly of Oregon City, once a member of the Legislature and Speaker of the House, and for some time chief clerk in the Surveyor General's office, left here Saturday to assume the office of Surveyor General of Idaho, to which he was appointed a short time since.

Mr. Lewelling this year raised, says the Enterprise, from one and a quarter acres of ground, ninety-one and a half measured bushels of white winter wheat, which weighed 6,222 pounds—or sixty-eight pounds to the bushel. This is from ground in Clackamas county, and we rather strongly incline to the belief that it cannot be beat.

The Enterprise says: We have to record another painful accident which occurred on Sunday last near this city. As a well known Indian named Claylock was preparing to start out deer shooting his rifle was discharged by accident, and the ball took effect in the left shoulder of a Mr. Wm. Stone, proving nearly fatal. The Indian, sadly grieved at the misfortune, generously proffered his horse in payment of the physician's charge.

Medical men advise Mr. Seward to retire from public life.—Exchanges

His own fame as a statesman demanded the same nearly a year ago.

Judge Hewitt has been holding court the past week at Steilacoom, W. T., for Judge Darwin, who has gone East.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

We clip the following from the Vancouver Register of the 10th:

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF VANCOUVER.

The city treasurer presented his annual report November 5th, of which the following is a synopsis:

Total amount received during the year, $5,962.45. Amount of city warrant paid, $2,505.19. Amount paid to redeem wharf bonds and pay interest thereon, $2,174.82. Total expenditures, $5,680.01. Leaving a balance in the Treasury of $1,302.44.

The following items are from the Register's Olympia letter:

OLYMPIA.

Olympia has greatly improved during the past summer. Neat and tasteful dwellings have been erected in various portions of the town, new business houses have been started and everything wears the air of quiet but substantial prosperity. There are two steamers making weekly trips between Olympia and Victoria, touching at all intermediate points on the Sound. We are informed that trade with Victoria has decreased greatly for the last two years, owing to the general stagnation of trade and consequent want of consumers in the British Colonies. There are three churches in Olympia. Rev. H. K. Hines, late of Vancouver, and a former editor of the Register, has charge of the Methodist congregation. The Protestant Episcopal and the Presbyterian churches are, respectively, under the charge of Rev. P. E. Hyland and Rev. Mr. Simpson.

GENERAL GOSSIP.

Governor Pickering has just returned from an extended trip in the Cascade Mountains and an examination of the Snoqualmie Pass. He gives a glowing account of the practicability and superiority of this pass over all others and pronounces it entirely practicable for a railroad route. In this connection we may mention, that some people at Seattle and other places on the Sound, feel dissatisfied over the action of Hon. Levi Farnsworth, Commissioner, declaring the Naches pass the most practicable one. If we understand the matter correctly, Mr. Farnsworth did not decide upon the merits of the two passes generally, but simply gave it as his opinion that with the money appropriated by the Legislature and to be raised by the people, the Naches pass would make the best route. It was evidently the intention of the Legislature only to ascertain the relative merits of the two passes after expending upon them the amounts appropriated and to be subscribed and no more.

The vexed question concerning the public printing has finally been settled in favor of Mr. McElroy, whose accounts have been audited. Mr. Hewitt, his opponent, presented some accounts that were not audited but were referred to the Secretary for settlement and thereby hangs a tale, which just now had better not be written.

Mr. J. N. Gale, a practical printer and former editor of the Eugene City Republican, expects within a few weeks to start another paper in this place, which politically will take sides with Congress.

That natural obtuseness, without which a man cannot be a genuine copperhead, is unable to see how the Southern States can take the constitutional amendment "but by organized State authority." Can copperhead obtuseness see how territories make their own constitutions and present them to Congres for approval, drawing their power to proceed, from Congress? Cannot copperhead obtuseness see how easily the lately Confederate States, now subject to the United States authority, may follow the example of a territory, so far as the cases are parallel, and make their constitutions conformable to the amended constitution of the United States? Congress agrees that upon the adoption of the amendments, the governments of the late rebel States, whether now de facto State governments, or otherwise a fact which is immaterial to the argument—shall be recognized as State governments within the Union. Copperhead obtuseness or perversity, refuses to recognize the fact that the States are specially authorized by Congress to proceed in this business.

Go Thou and do Likewise.—One of our friends at Canyon city—Mr. F. Adams—tried his hand the other day at procuring subscribers for the Oregonian, and as the result sent us the names of thirty-four new subscribers, accompanied by the cash. We acknowledge the favor conferred by Mr. Adams, and pledge ourselves to deserve as far as possible the compliment accompanying it—that he found the character for steady advocacy of correct principles which the Oregonian sustains, had already prepared the way for an easy accomplishment of his task of procuring for it an increase of circulation. While we are willing that the Oregonian shall stand upon its own merits, and advance its own area of influence, we know that we have many friends throughout the State, who could each, in a day or two, do as much in their respective neighborhoods as did Mr. Adams in his. We trust that we need say no more than that our future course will be marked by as steady a devotion to the interests of liberty, and humanity and even a greater degree of enterprise, than that which has heretofore distinguished the Oregonian.

West Virginia.—The Radical Congressmen elect from West Virginia are Charles D. Hubbard (present member,) B. M. Kitchen and Daniel Palsey. In 1865 West Virginia gave Lincoln 12,714 majority. Rebels are disfranchised by organic law.

Lincoln's majority in New York in 1864 was 6,749. This year Fenton's majority is 13,654, making a Democratic gain of 7,105,—according to the copperhead way of computing these matters.

General Sheridan orders Colonel Mason, commanding United States forces at Brenham, Texas, not to allow himself or any of his command to be arrested by the State authorities for alleged offences. The soldiers are accused of having fired the town, but the accusation is said to be false and malignant.

Use Newell's Pulmonary Syrup, for there is no remedy like it for Bronchial and Lung Complaints.

WHERE SHALL WE GO FOR PICTURES?—To ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 83 First Street, of course. It is the only place where you are sure of being pleased. Everything emanating from this Gallery possesses the peculiar charm of attracting the attention of the most unsophisticated observer. All classes of the community visit this institution daily. SUN PEARLS, ALBUM CARDS, MELAINOTYPES, and every other style executed in the most superior manner.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Within the last few weeks a large number of our citizens have availed themselves of the benefit of a Life Insurance, which certainly is very praiseworthy, but one of those heavy BEAVER SUITS, for sale at the ST. LOUIS CLOTHING STORE, will prolong Life and do away with the necessity of a Life Policy.

ROBBERY.—On Friday evening, 9th inst., several robberies ... ted. Wm. Currier lost a beaver coat ... which was upon a "dummy" which stood just within the door of the store. Mr. Currier was sitting in full view of the store door when his attention was attracted by the noise of something falling, when upon going to the door he found the rack thrown down and the coat gone. Galland & Goodman, whilst engaged in the rear of their store, had a coat and half stolen from a clothing rack in the front of their store. Mr. Levy lost a number of hats from the front of the store. Kohn & Fishel lost one pair of pants. Our merchants on comparing notes on Saturday unanimously agree that "business was lively." The matter was put into the hands of the proper officers. On Saturday evening policeman Saunders saw upon the person of a youth a coat answering the description of one of those stolen. Upon arresting him a boy who was standing near by turned and ran down the street. He was pursued and brought back, and one of the stolen hats found upon his head. The owners of the goods identified their property and the offenders were marched off to the station house. Later in the evening the third one was found and arrested. He also had on a portion of the stolen clothing. John Lee and Carlos Armstrong are the principals in the matter, both about 19 or 20 years of age, and are "hard cases." John Lee is known in the Police Court, having been there before. The boy Wm. White is quite young, and is no doubt controled by the others. They will undergo an examination this morning.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUSTICE.—The Grand Jury was called and returned two indictments for perjury and one for an attempt at bribery. In the matter of the United States vs. Briggs et al. a motion for a new trial was overruled and judgment rendered in accordance with the verdict. It was ordered that the execution of judgment be delayed for three weeks, and then if defendant should ... judgment and costs, amounting to $932 82, time ... granted giving defendant opportunity to apply to the Department at Washington to have the amount ... credited upon the judgment. It seems that defendant is entitled to this set off but the Court had no power to allow the credit. The Grand Jury was discharged and the trial jury ordered to appear on the 15th inst., for the trial of a cause entitled the United States vs. Wilson charged with the crime of perjury.

COUNTY COURT—MARQUAM JUDGE.—In County Court in the matter of the estate of Wm. Cason, deceased, P. G. Stewart, the guardian of the minor heirs, was directed to make sale of certain property, and citation was ordered ... calling upon those interested to show why the ... W. G. Stewart, guardian of the minor heirs of Wm. Cason, should not offer for sale eighty acres of land, the same being a portion of the donation land claim of said Wm. Cason, and situated in the county of Multnomah. To the matter of the estate of Eloise Caruthers, C. S. Silver administrator de bonis non, a confirmation of the sale of real estate made on the 5th inst., was ordered. Court adjourned.

...—The festival held at Turn Verein Hall on ... last, celebrating the anniversary of the birth of the favorite poet of "faderland," was well attended, and the evening was indeed a joyous one. All seemed free from care and full of mirth and jollity. "All went merry as a marriage bell." It seems a trait among our German friends to arrange and execute the most attractive festivals. To them in this particular all other nations must yield the palm.

ACCIDENT.—We learn that a sad and painful accident ... at Astoria, on Sunday the 4th inst. A little boy about five years old, the son of Mr. John Hobson, was badly wounded by the premature discharge of a pistol in the hands of an elder brother—the charge passing through his hand entered his side. Medical assistance was immediately called, the shot extracted, and the wound dressed. At last accounts the little boy was doing ... likely to recover.

BASE BALL.—The match game of base ball, set for last Saturday was deferred on account of the weather. Although it is already late in the season and full time that the bat and ball should be laid aside until next ..., should good weather occur soon the match will be ... played, as the Clackamas Club is anxious to meet ... and regain the laurels lost at Oregon City. ... "on it," too.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK JUDGE.—The Circuit Court in the county of Multnomah convenes this morning at 10 o'clock. The docket is the largest ever known in this county; it contains 159 cases 13 State cases, of which 14 are for ..., 15 for larceny, 4 for murder, 97 law ... and 29 chancery suits.

...—We learn that Mr. James Wallace, while walking along Clatsop beach, near the house of Mr. Cof... on Sunday the 4th inst., found a shoe with a man's foot in it, which had washed ashore. This is a ... mystery, and probably the only record of some ... lost at sea.

POLICE COURT.—The Police Court has been a very ... for several days past. We could not find ... to chronicle. Prospects, however, are ... We will have a drunk or two and the case ... this morning.

DEPUTY.—Brevet Col. E. B. Babbitt, Deputy Q. M. General of the Department of the Pacific, has been transferred to the Department of the Columbia as Chief Quartermaster. He will relieve Lieutenant Col. Henry C. ...

...PRODUCE.—The steamer Senator brought last evening the following freight: 50 gunnies bacon, 16 bxs eggs, 11 hf bbls butter, 2200 qr.sks flour, 85 sks feed 40 bbls dried apples, 3 bales woolen goods, 23 boxes apples.

THE FALKINBURG.—The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg which has been loading with spars, at Cathlamet, will drop down the river to Astoria to-day. She will not sail until about the 18th inst.

GUNS.—We are informed that the schooner Towanda with a cargo of heavy guns and ammunition for Fort Stevens, has arrived in the river and will immediately ... discharging.

THANKS.—We are under obligations to several of our friends in various parts of the country, for very considerable additions to our subscription list. For these and all similar favors, thanks.

RACE TO-DAY.—There will be a race at 2 o'clock to-day over the Multnomah track. Top Sawyer, Nellie, Banks and ... in a trotting match, to harness and rule, three best in five, for purse and stake of $300.

ARRIVAL.—The steamer Oriflamme sailed from San Francisco for this port on Saturday evening the 10th inst. She will probably arrive on Tuesday evening.

LOST.—On last Friday evening a meerschaum; it was probably lost on First, Washington or Front streets. The finder will confer a favor by calling at this office.

... IS COMING.—The holidays will soon be here, and the little folks are anxiously expecting the arrival of Santa Claus. Visions of stockings crammed with toys and all kinds of beautiful presents nightly appear. Friends are looking for articles rich and rare with which to ... their "dear, ten thousand friends." Benedicts are industriously searching for a present with which to ... their better half. Our advice is for all to go and see W... ...an & Co.; they can fit you out.

NEW DRUG STORE.—Mr. L. Gross has removed his drug store to the corner room in the new and handsome ... of Mr. C. M. Carter, corner of Front and Alder streets. The old friends of Mr. G. will no doubt go and ... him in his new quarters, and he will make a host of new ... as the situation he now occupies is the most ... in the city.

NEW WAREROOMS.—We would call attention to the new ... of Messrs. Hurgren & Shindler. They have ... to their new warerooms, No. 67 Front street. Their new rooms are splendid, and are well filled above and below. They have now room to display their fine stock of furniture; and hope their old friends will call upon them. "It is no trouble to show goods." We wish them ... in their new place of business.

PRIVATE DINING ROOMS.—Mons. Pierre Marcliot has just ... fitted up private apartments at the Lafayette ... for the accommodation of Ladies and Families, or private parties of Ladies and Gentlemen, and is prepared to furnish the delicacies of the season to those ... Entrance on Stark street, opposite the Willamette Theatre. He is also prepared to furnish suppers for parties, balls, &c., on the shortest notice. n12tf

FLORA TEMPLE STILL VICTORIOUS.—The National Horse Fair at Kalamazoo, Michigan, closed Oct. 5th. The premium for the best trotting horse was competed for by Dexter and Patchen, and won by the former in three straight heats. Time 2:27, 2:21¼, 2:21¼. This is the best time Dexter ever made in harness. He failed to obtain the additional purse of $1,000 offered any horse to beat Flora Temple's time of 2:19¾.

...—A colony of Mormons has this year raised 80,000 pounds or 200 bales of first-rate upland cotton, near the head of navigation of the Colorado river; all of which is destined for the San Francisco market. Freight is $100 per ton from Callville, on the Colorado, to San Francisco.

DEATH OF A BROTHER OF CHARLES DICKENS.—A dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat says Augustus N. Dickens, brother of Charles Dickens, the famous novelist, died in Chicago October 4th, aged 39 years. Dickens has been many years employed in the Land Department in Illinois.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.—The Alpine Chronicle says: Colonel Fessenden, brother of the distinguished Senator, and General Hall, who was with General Gilmore in his Southern campaign during the late rebellion, passed through here last evening on their way to the Big Trees.

George Barton, just arrived at Galveston from Cordova, Mexico, informs the News that Gen. Price was sick when he left, and that both Price and Shelby would be glad to get back if they could return safely.

France had sixty-seven Queens. Eleven were divorced; two executed; nine died young; seven were widowed early; three cruelly treated; three ex...; the rest were either poisoned or broken-hearted.

THE ORIGIN OF THE PARAGUAY WAR.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune gives the following account of the origin of the Paraguayan war:

Many years ago Senor Don Venancio Flores was President of Uruguay. He ruled well and retired with honor. The sweets of power induced him to seek the office again, and it became necessary that he should leave the country. A refugee in the Argentine Confederation, he was ready to join in the civil war of 1861, and he did good service in favor of Buenos Ayres. After the war was ended he crossed the La Plata, with two men, in an open boat, to begin a revolution in Uruguay. With little real success, he kept up guerrilla warfare for over a year, and so dilatory was the Government that his rebels became formidable.

At this time Brazil presented some old claims against Uruguay, which in a time of civil war could not well be settled. These claims were at once enforced by army and navy, and taking sides with the rebels, the rebellion soon became a revolution.

During these months President Lopez sent notice to Brazil that, if the rebellion should be matured, he would regard it as a derangement of the equilibrium of the river Plata, which he could not prevent. Brazil proceeded, and Lopez at once, in retaliation, took possession of Matto Grosso, a rich Province of Brazil. Lopez then asked permission to cross the Argentine soil in order to attack Brazil, but was refused. Lopez regarded this as a casus belli, and at once seized two Argentine steamers, and proceeded to levy war against Brazil and Uruguay, an ally and almost a Province of Brazil, and the Argentine Confederation.

These three nations united in a triple treaty, agreeing to take from Paraguay all her arms and distribute them equally, and maintain a Provisional Government in Paraguay, under their protection, whose first duty should be to repay them the expenses of the war. With varied fortune the allies have steadily advanced, and in April last entered the territory of Paraguay with 50,000 men. This looks like progress, if we remember that Lopez had at first invaded both Brazil and the Argentine Confederation with large armies.

The war has raged for fourteen months, and all the time there may be said to have been 10,000 men under arms. And for the last six months these forces have chiefly been located within a radius of twenty miles, with the center at the confluence of the rivers Parana and Paraguay.

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works!
PORTLAND, Oct. 18th, 1866.
TO THE OREGON IRON WORKS:
Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pen d'Oreille Lake, has been in operation during the past season, and has more than met our expectations in its performance. With three men, we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours; and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE, and especially adapted to the wants of this country, on account of their compact form, ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation. Although subjected to the most severe tests, no repairs have been required.

Valuable Farm for Sale.
THAT VALUABLE FARM, KNOWN AS THE MC DONALD FARM, situated five miles south of Dayton, Yamhill County, is offered for sale. The farm consists of six hundred and thirty-five acres, all excellent arable land, about one-half of which is under good fence. On the premises are a good Frame House and Barn and a large fine Orchard, with an abundance of good water, excellent oak timber and a fine grove of fir. The farm is situated in a healthy and pleasant neighborhood. There is a good level road leading from it to Dayton, a point reached by steamboats the whole year. Altogether, it is one of the most desirable locations in the State. Any one desiring a farm would do well to examine this place. Please call upon or address the undersigned at Dayton, Yamhill County, Oregon.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Two Travelers

I

A man passed over the road
  In the early days of Spring
When the grandest flower that ever bloomed
  Was brightly blossoming

And never a word he spoke,
  And his face was marble-cold
But millions of men above him wept,
  And a million bells were tolled

And the cities were draped in black
  And the towns were wrapped in gloom
For he is dead, the people said
  Who made the flower to bloom

Down many a swarthy face
  Unnumbered tear-drops flowed
For he is gone —the bondman spoke—
  Who lifted the weary load

And they builded him a tomb
  Afar in the silent West,
And that beautiful flower which men call Peace
  Spread its leaves above his breast

II

A man passed over the road
  Ere the Summer days were dead
And the leaves of the flower that bloomed in Spring
  He trampled with ruthless tread

And many a word he spoke,
  And his arrogant face was flushed
And he laughed aloud with the noisy crowd
  When the leaves of the flower were crushed

But down many a swarthy face
  Flowed tears of bitterest pain,
'For he is come' —the bondman spoke—
  'To forge our chains again

He must seek the tomb some time,
  Afar in the silent West
But will ever the flower which men call Peace
  Spread its leaves above his breast?

The Discussion between Senators Howe and Doolittle

The following is from the Milwaukee (Wis) Sentinel of Oct 8th

We learn from parties who were present that in the discussion between our two Senators on Thursday, at the Kenosha County Fair, Senator Doolittle was fairly and completely defeated By arrangement the time was limited to two hours and a half Senator Howe was to open the debate, speaking one hour, Senator Doolittle to follow, speaking an hour and a quarter, and Senator Howe to close, occupying the remaining fifteen minutes

Accordingly, Senator Howe began the debate, arguing against Johnson's policy and defending Congress He reminded the crowd that Doolittle was relied upon as the ablest defender of the Johnson-policy, and that if he could not meet the arguments against that policy no one could And in closing, he took pains to recapitulate the leading points of this argument, and to direct Doolittle's attention particularly to them

In reply, Doolittle professed his readiness to refute every one of the arguments advanced by his opponent, but immediately slid off into a sort of exordium, and entirely forgot to return to the main question From first to last he did not pretend to touch one of the positions taken and defended by Senator Howe He seemed conscious that he occupied untenable ground, and did not even attempt to repel the assaults of his adversary

The crowd listened very impatiently to Senator Doolittle, interrupting him frequently with groans and laughter, and such cries as "New Orleans" Judge Howe's friends had to appeal to the crowd in order to secure attention to Doolittle. Although the crowd consisted largely of Democrats there were but few and very faint demonstrations of applause The Democracy seemed to be ashamed of their man Now and then some one in the crowd would clap his hands, solitary and alone, until the absurdity of the thing would strike the crowd, and they would burst out into a roar of laughter.

Speaking of interruptions, one or two incidents occurred that are worthy of record While Doolittle was discoursing of the loyalty of the South some one in the crowd called out "New Orleans" The Senator was greatly angered at this, and called out "Who was that? Get up and show yourself!" Whereupon a young man in the audience got up and showed himself conspicuously, and declared that he was the man. Doolittle shouted, "What is your name, sir?" "My name is Smith, and I served four years in the army fighting just such rebels as you are!"

In the course of the speech the following dialogue was held between the speaker and an intelligent old gentleman by the name of Gleason The Senator was, we think, speaking of his own consistency, and charging the Republican party with deserting him, when the dialogue opened

Gleason—"I pronounce you, sir, a traitor to liberty!"

Doolittle—"You villainous, gray-haired old man, do you dare come here and insult me in this way, after I have been invited here to address the people?" [This was spoken in a very offensive manner, as though addressed to a servant.]

Gleason—"I am not talking to my master, but to one of the servants of the American people I pronounce you a traitor to liberty!"

Doolittle—"I have sacrificed more in this war than you"

Gleason—"No you haven't!"

Doolittle—"Yes I have!"

Gleason—"No you haven't!"

Doolittle—"I have given a son to the country"

Gleason—"And I have given two sons to the country"

Doolittle—"But are your sons dead, sir?"

Gleason—"No, thank God, they came out of the war alive."

Doolittle—"But my son is dead"

Gleason—"Well, sir, it is a blessing to him that he is dead, and has not survived to witness the shame of his father"

A Georgia Fulmination.

GEORGIA WILL NOT TAKE PART IN NATIONAL POLITICS TILL JEFF. DAVIS IS RELEASED

There is now making an effort to induce the people of this State of Georgia to take some participative action in Federal politics Without discussing the issue presented, it is desired to ask that some guarantee of the immediate parole, release, or trial of the Hon Jefferson Davis, be required as a condition precedent to any such action as is sought. The history of Mr Davis it is not proposed to reiterate by way of enforcing the propriety of this suggestion For sixteen months he has been treated worse than any prisoner was treated in America before, and is now, whatever tender mercies may be vouchsafed him in the daytime, cooped up each night, like some wild animal, in a real and literal cage a room closed in on one side and having bars like a menagerie den on the three others The calcium light has reduced him almost to blindness, his food has so far ceased to nourish him that he lives alone upon stimulants and narcotics, and his skin, by latest accounts, is so lifeless that when pinched up by the hand it will so remain for a very considerable length of time In one word, Jefferson Davis, our President, is at death's door. And yet, tied as he is to the stake, there is not the faintest indication of a purpose to set him free

Under these circumstances you are asked, men of Georgia, to enter into the [illegible] of politics by endorsing the platform of a late Convention That platform has not one word in favor of Mr. Davis, or of any of those hundreds who now languish in captivity in contempt of all civil authority. That Convention had not a man in it who did what even some of the nigger Convention delegates did—and that is, declare in its action that it "should evince a magnanimous sentiment" towards a fallen man And yet the platform of that Convention you are asked unequivocally to endorse

Will you do it? Will you, in a mad scramble for a selfish advantage, throw yourselves headlong into party without one single effort to rescue a man you once loved and trusted from the jaws of death? Heed them not who tell you, you can do nothing The weapon is in your own hands, for if the moral influence of your support has value, the moral influence of your demand will have force Things are at that juncture now that a united straightforward, unflinching appeal for Mr. Davis will secure his release. And shame, shame upon us if we do not make it. Even the Nigger Philadelphia Convention tabled a resolution that sought his life Even Horace Greeley was ready to go his bail, and said that this tabling 'evinced equal wisdom and magnanimity." Even in that grizzly mob that squabbled at Cleveland with the President, there were some who cried out "No!" when it was said hang him And are we we alone, to remain silent—to take no action—and only whisper some stray wish to ourselves—for the sake of policy? What is policy worth that necessitates for its success the slow murder of a gallant gentleman? And who believes, if the temper of the North be really such as would not permit the release of our leader it would permit the Congressional admission of ourselves?

Heretofore you have been powerless, but now that you have some little liberty of action let the first use of your freedom be to attempt the release, from the least to the greatest of all your brethren who now lie in prison walls —Augusta Constitutionalist.

Thomas L Plant of Birmingham, Eng., writes to the Birmingham Daily Post that, after 31 years' attentive study of meteorological elements during the last six years of which he has endeavored to advance the subject to practical scientific importance, he has at length come to the conclusion that weather predictions cannot be made with any accuracy to be of any value and he shall therefore not publish any opinions in advance

The Anti Slavery Amendment

The Philadelphia Johnson Convention in its declaration of principles and in its address to the people, assumed that any amendment to the Federal Constitution proposed by a Congress in which six or ten States were not represented would be invalid This same idea has been repeatedly elaborated by President Johnson If the representation of all the States be necessary to give validity to the action of Congress in proposing amendments to the Constitution then it is competent when such an amendment is proposed in Congress for the representatives of one or a half dozen States by withdrawing to tie the hands of Congress and prevent any amendment to the Constitution The Constitution requires an affirmative vote of two thirds of the members of each House of Congress to propose an amendment If that two thirds vote be not obtained it is not of the slightest legal importance whether the other third be present or vote at all Had the Constitution required that the representatives of all the States should be present it would have so stated In one instance it does not require that there shall be representatives from two thirds of all the States present to constitute a quorum for a particular and specified duty, but beyond that there is no constitutional or legal restraint upon two thirds of the members of both Houses of Congress proposing amendments to the Constitution It is made part of their duty to do so Had the amendment proposed by the last Congress not received the vote of two thirds of all the qualified members of each House there would be some force in an objection to the validity of that action therefore the allegation of the President and of the Convention amounts to nothing more than the advancement of a false principle, and one of the most mischievous character The Constitutional amendment abolishing slavery was proposed by a Congress in which ten or more States were not represented That amendment has been declared ratified and a part of the Constitution by the President and by every department of the Government At the time when it was receiving its final vote in Congress, it was denounced by George H Pendleton, of Ohio as void and of no effect He denied its validity upon the ground that there was no power to "amend" the Constitution by destroying slavery, in other words, the destroying slavery was no "amendment" to the Constitution, but the destruction of what under the Constitution was a vested and indestructible right The Philadelphia Convention and the President have improved upon this They declare that the power to amend requires the consent of the representatives of all the States They concede that the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the members are sufficient, provided all the members be present but this involves the still greater concession that the representatives of one or more States, by withdrawing, can defeat the constitutionality of the action even of five-sixths of the whole number of members in Congress

We do not propose to enter into an argument upon this proposition, but simply desire to point out the avidity with which the rebels seize upon any concession of principle or of law that offers them the slightest pretext for justifying their rebellion, or for a return of their deeply lamented jewel, slavery

One of the Kentucky districts has been represented in Congress by Green Clay Smith, a Union man He has resigned his seat, and a special election to fill the vacancy was ordered One A H Ward was nominated as the Democratic candidate and elected The attachment of slave owners to that peculiar description of property overrides all other considerations and Ward adroitly addresses himself to that interest He indorses the patriotic and fraternal spirit of the President's Philadelphia Convention, which concedes that any amendment to the Constitution proposed by Congress in which a number of the States had no representatives, is invalid and not binding, and cannot justly be claimed under any system of ratification as part of the Constitution He indorses this most cordially, and pushes that doctrine to its logical conclusion—that any amendment hitherto declared to have been adopted which had its origin in a Congress in which a number of States had no representatives, was equally void Having established this incontestably, according to the premises asserted by Johnson's Convention, he contends that the amendment abolishing slavery having been proposed by a Congress in which eleven States had no representation, that amendment had no Constitutional origin and as no subsequent ratification could give it a validity which it lacked at its first step, slavery equally exists now just as it had done previously

If the President's Philadelphia Convention were right in their objection to the validity of the amendment now pending, then there is no escape from the argument of Ward Proceeding upon the President's theory, his argument is but a fair deduction therefrom, and that argument will address itself to the mind and pockets of the whole South No wonder they are willing to submit to a few glittering generalities, when the Convention asserts as a sacred principle the constitutional construction that will restore to them a valid claim for the property illegally taken by the Government.

We have no question that every man elected Senator or Representative by the rebels, taking this Philadelphia declaration as a text, will insist that slavery is not constitutionally abolished, and how any person who took part in that Convention, or who indorses its action, can controvert the claim except by openly repudiating the "sacred principle" so emphatically asserted by the Convention, it is difficult to understand

We have before us the Mobile Tribune of a late date in which the editor assures his readers that all the people at the North are not Yankees, that the Philadelphia Convention gives proof that there are men at the North who will uphold the "constitutional rights" of the South, and he then felicitates the South upon the certain fact that in case of another civil war to maintain Southern rights, "it is not difficult to divine under whose banner they would be enlisted" He adds that "the strange spectacle would be presented of men who have been stigmatized as 'rebels' fighting side by side" with Johnson, Doolittle and Raymond, to extirpate the Yankees.

The Philadelphia Convention and Andrew Johnson's speeches have cruelly deceived these people They have induced these people to believe that their rebellion was something to be proud of that their debt should not be repudiated without their consent, that slavery has not been legally abolished, and that there is a portion of the Northern people who are prepared, under Johnson's lead, to engage in another rebellion and another civil war to prevent the rule of the majority, and to restore slavery to its former power.

Let the American people by their unanimity this fall undeceive these duped rebels and teach them and their Northern demagogues who cater to their rebellious hopes, that the majority shall rule, and in the assertion of that principle, men and parties, Presidents and Cabinets—rebels and all others who resist it, will be swept away as straws before the hurricane —Chicago Tribune

MAXIMILIAN'S ADDRESS TO THE MEXICANS — The following is the full text of the speech delivered by Maximilian, mentioned lately

Mexicans! Now, for the third time, as chief of the nation I celebrate with you, with pleasure and enthusiasm, our great and glorious family festival In these days of patriotic remembrance it is always a necessity on my part to address frank and faithful words to my patriotic fellow citizens, and to participate with them in the general rejoicings Fifty six years have passed since was heard the first cry of our nation's new birth It is a half century, during which Mexico has been struggling for her independence and pacific consolidation. The time seems long, undoubtedly, for patriotism is justly impatient but in the history of a people just coming into life it is simply the period of a severe apprenticeship which every nation must undergo if it wishes one day to be great and powerful Without blood and without affliction there are no great human triumphs, no political developments no durable progress The lesson which this first period of our free history addresses to us is that of ultimate sacrifices, of cordial, generous and frank union and more than all, immutable faith in our success Let all loyal patriots support with energy each in his sphere the great work of regeneration Then my labors will not be sterile and I will be able to follow conscientiously the difficult path on which I have entered Let them have confidence and good will in order that we may one day reap the fruits so desired of peace and prosperity. I am still firm in the position which the votes of the nation have made me occupy notwithstanding all the difficulties and without failing in my duties For it is not in adverse moments that a true Hapsburg abandons his post

The majority of the nation elected me to defend its most sacred rights against the enemies of order, property and true independence The Almighty should therefore protect us it being a sacred truth that the voice of the people is the voice of God This was shown in a miraculous manner at the time of our first national rising it will be shown in the present regeneration The great heroes of our country look upon our efforts Let us follow their immortal example without vacillation without distrust, and to us will then belong the enviable task of consolidating and crowning the work of independence which they began with their precious blood.

Mexicans! long live our independence and the memory of its glorious martyrs

MOIRE ANTIQUE —This term is familiar to dealers in silks and to those who wear them but comparatively few know why it is applied to the class of goods bearing the name, or what is the process by which their peculiar character is given them As with most other articles in common use the mass of persons are content to wear them without knowing anything about how they are produced The name is of French origin, as well as the goods and the word moire meaning simply watered and is applied to the silks which have a wavy appearance imparted to them by being stamped when damp and are consequently also called watered The antique is added because of the resemblance which these goods bear to the heavy fabrics worn by our ancestral grandmams Their peculiar appearance is owing to a slight inequality in the surface of the silk and is produced either by an arrangement of the woof in weaving, or by operating upon the surface after it is completed A slight twisting of the threads of the woof will give an undulating appearance to the silk by changing from place to place the angle of reflection of the light but this effect is more commonly produced after the process of weaving has been completed The discovery of this peculiar effect is said to have been accidental A piece of silk rolled tight when a little damp, was found to have this wavy appearance imparted to it which suggested the idea of applying pressure by which it is now affected The preparation of this kind of silk was formerly confined for the most part to France where the art was kept secret for a long time but it is now largely carried on in other countries, and to some extent in the United States

A MYSTERIOUS MATTER —On Tuesday evening the 20th of October last while Mr William Whitlock of Abiqua precinct Marion county, was absent to Portland a man came to his house and asked to stay over night He had with him two mules Mrs W told him he could stay, and after her sons had taken care of the mules and she had spread supper for the stranger, he retired He then staid all of Wednesday, and at the hour to again retire on Wednesday night took his hat and left the house, and has not been seen since by any one in the neighborhood It was found on the following morning that he had taken his saddle mule and blankets and left the other mule on the farm He reported that he had come from the Blackfoot mines, and his remarks about loaning some person $3,000, which had given him some trouble coupled with his mysterious actions since leave the inference that he was insane, or that he was guilty of some crime and afraid to remain until Mr Whitlock came home The abandoned mule, and some camp equipage, is still in Mr W's possession, waiting a claimant. The man is described as being small of stature and apparently about forty years of age.—Enterprise

BROKEN CABLES —The submarine cables connecting the coast of France and England have recently been so severely injured as to interrupt the communications between Paris and London The cables belonging to the Submarine Telegraph Company of the Channel are three in number While that from Calais was under repair, that between Boulogne and Foulkestone, containing six wires was accidentally broken The conducting wires four in number, which join the submarine cable on the English territory, are insufficient for the rapid interchange of the numerous dispatches between the two countries The telegraphic communications between Paris and London will, therefore, be liable to considerable delays till the lines are re-established

To the Officers and Soldiers Oregon Volunteers

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE
SALEM Oct 23 1866

BY RECENT ACTS OF CONGRESS ALL OFFICERS of the Volunteer Service who were in Commission March 3d 1865 and subsequently mustered out after April 9th, 1865 are entitled to three months extra pay proper

Enlisted men are entitled to additional bounty in certain cases by Acts of Congress of July 28th 1866 and the following rules and regulations, together with the form of application adopted by the War Department are published for the guidance and benefit of all concerned

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES APPROVED JULY 28 1866

WAR DEPARTMENT ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, September 16, 1866

1 All applications shall be filed within the period of six months from the 1st day of October 1866, and before any payments are made shall be classified by regiments battalions or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid

2 No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28 1866 more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed

3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.

4. As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment or other independent organization shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment

5 A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office and also in the office of the Second Auditor of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments etc If the claims be allowed the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated

6 In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated

7 Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes, as State Militia, Home Guards, etc and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act

8. Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war" who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act

9 The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family in which case it shall be paid to the mother Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes

1 Those who after serving the full period of their enlistment were dishonorably discharged at its expiration

2. Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.

3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service but not occasioned by wounds received "in the line of duty," who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge

4. Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment

5 The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty

6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States

7 The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress.

8. The Act of the 28th of July, 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act.

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law
EDWIN M STANTON,
September 14, 1866. Secretary of War

I have examined these amended regulations, and am of opinion they are in conformity with law
HENRY STANBERY,
September 15, 1866. Attorney General.

The foregoing rules and regulations are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.
By order of the Secretary of War
E D TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General

SOMETHING NEW!
THE NEW LIGHT!
DANFORD'S
Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT IS A UNIversal necessity A Safe Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used. Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney and without unpleasant odor while in use That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance the chimney is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided It is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps It is the cheapest artificial light that can be used yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ½ cent per hour or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp for one third the cost It will burn when turned down to a taper light ten hours for a cent Is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufresne, corner of Morrison and First streets
